WORTHINGTON NATIONAL BANK ANNOUNCES PROMOTION OF NEWEST COMMERCIAL LOAN OFFICER

FORT WORTH, Texas (May 31, 2019) – Worthington National Bank announced today that the company has promoted Lexi Summers to Commercial Loan Officer at the Fort Worth/Sundance Square office.

“This promotion is well deserved by Summers for her hard work and dedication to Worthington National Bank,” said Greg Morse, chief executive officer of Worthington National Bank. “She is a highly qualified individual to occupy this role and her high-caliber experience has allowed her to grow so quickly in this company.”

Summers brings to the position a wealth of experience and knowledge in the banking sector. Beginning her career as a teller in Lubbock, Texas and progressing to credit and commercial loans, Summers has embodied what it means to be versatile and invested in this industry.

Summers holds a Bachelor of Business Finance from Texas Tech University. She is also a member of Junior Women’s Club Fort Worth and CREW Fort Worth and spends time volunteering with Junior Achievement.

Summers grew up with the mindset of always becoming a commercial lender. She focused her professional growth on finding ways to better help others accomplish their goals. “Whether it be a new office space for a local company or an investment property, I am excited to do it all,” said Summers.

Summers is originally from Amarillo, Texas, and enjoys traveling, cooking, the outdoors, anything to do with animals and cheering on her Red Raiders in her spare time.

About Worthington National Bank

Worthington National Bank, one of the few locally owned and operated banks in Tarrant County, puts a priority on relationship-based banking. There are no 1-800 numbers and no automated phone systems. Offering checking, savings, money market accounts, loans and mortgage services, Worthington National Bank’s philosophy is that all customers are treated the same and clients are a name, not a number. Additionally, Worthington is committed to serving its communities and preserving Texas heritage, history and art. For more information, please visit www.worthingtonbank.com.
